

Bonnie Ashley
<bonnie.j.ashley@gmail.com>

To christian.hardigree@unlv.edu

cc

02/09/2009 11:47 AM

bcc

Subject Re: Hi Christian...

History: This message has been forwarded

You're right...sorry, I did to you what I get upset about. I apologize...however, I asked for that to be taken care of a week ago, and noone got back to me.

Have a good day. Bonnie

On Feb 9, 2009, at 11:00 AM, christian.hardigree@unlv.edu wrote:

I've tried to call your home (busy) and your cell (did not leave vm). I hope we can chat in a few minutes.

"How dare (I)"? If you re-read what I wrote, I said "some may find" - not that I think that. Speaking of disrespect - the tone of this email is very condescending and rude. I was neither to you - why are you being so to me?

If you don't trust my judgment to remedy this appropriately - then email Jim. My 'advice' was well intentioned and respectful. I have always conducted myself in such a way in my dealings with you.

I have followed up on the request for an apology. I am told that it was the chancellor's office who kept the list - system just sent it out. The matter has been referred to Dan Klaich. Some kid named Dennis in Reno is the one who keeps the list - he isn't very familiar with the players.

I would still like to speak with you when you are available. Thanks!

From: Bonnie Ashley [bonnie.j.ashley@gmail.com]
Sent: 02/09/2009 10:24 AM PST
To: Christian Hardigree
Subject: Re: Hi Christian...

It was not a "mere clerical error"...how dare you. It takes the person who did it 1 minute to send the email...it's been a week, not an hour.

I do not expect to be given "advice", I know right and wrong and will not put up with any more of the disrespect. Period.

On Feb 9, 2009, at 10:16 AM, christian.hardigree@unlv.edu wrote:

Bonnie -

I don't know that it is reasonable to expect an email within the hour from system. If you feel time is of the essence and the only recourse is to write Jim, then write Jim. Before you do so, please keep in mind that I need some time to work on this. It's delicate to try to build relationships with system (remember BOR was last week and they had other issues they were focused upon) - deal with budget issues - and remedy this situation (which some would find paltry in the face of the other issues facing the system) -- it takes a little time and a delicate touch. I don't want to open you