What could government-run healthcare mean for you?

“If you like your current health insurance, you should be able to keep it. Unfortunately, 114 million Americans could lose their current medical coverage under the majority’s healthcare plan. Nationalizing our healthcare system will not fix our problems. Bigger government and more spending will only create bigger deficits and higher taxes in the coming years. Congress should focus on fixing the flaws in the current system, protecting taxpayers, and improving access to healthcare.”
