

This chart identifies the new federal programs, agencies, departments, and mandates created by the proposed healthcare bill that Americans will be forced to navigate in order to receive healthcare and their insurance.

Source: Joint Economic Committee, Republican Staff
 Congressman Kevin Brady, Ranking House Republican Member

How to Contact Congressman Dean Heller

Washington D.C. Office	Nevada Office	Idaho Office (Rural Office)	Nevada Office
125 Cannon HOB Washington, DC 20515 202-225-6155	400 S. Virginia St. Suite 502 Reno, NV 89501 775-686-5760	405 Idaho St. Suite 214 Elko, NV 89801 775-777-7920	600 Las Vegas Blvd. Suite 680 Las Vegas, NV 89101 702-255-1651

Heller Health Plan

Eliminating frivolous lawsuits. Eliminating frivolous lawsuits is the simplest, most effective way to quickly reduce costs and increase access to care. Congress should cap non-economic damages, similar to the cap Nevadans supported in 2004, at $250,000.

Focus on covering the 46 million uninsured in our nation. In my view, Congress should focus on covering the 46 million uninsured in our nation instead of insisting on a government takeover of a full one-fifth of our economy. For example, a simple tax deduction could be provided to doctors who provide uncompensated care to low-income patients.

Allow small businesses to band together to increase their health insurance buying power. Congress should allow small businesses to band together to increase their health insurance buying power, which would reduce costs for workers and their families.

Provide incentives for doctors to practice in rural areas and also provide care for uninsured, low-income patients. Congress should provide incentives for doctors to practice in rural areas and also provide care for uninsured, low-income patients.

Reimportation of drug from other countries. All the medical innovation in the world will not help Americans who can't afford it. Reimportation from nations with comparable safety standards would increase competition and reduce costs.