

One of Washoe County's biggest employers needed help to protect thousands of jobs...

Jobs In Nevada.” – Harrah's Entertainment Senior Vice President Jan Jones

THE GAMING INDUSTRY was drowning in debt.

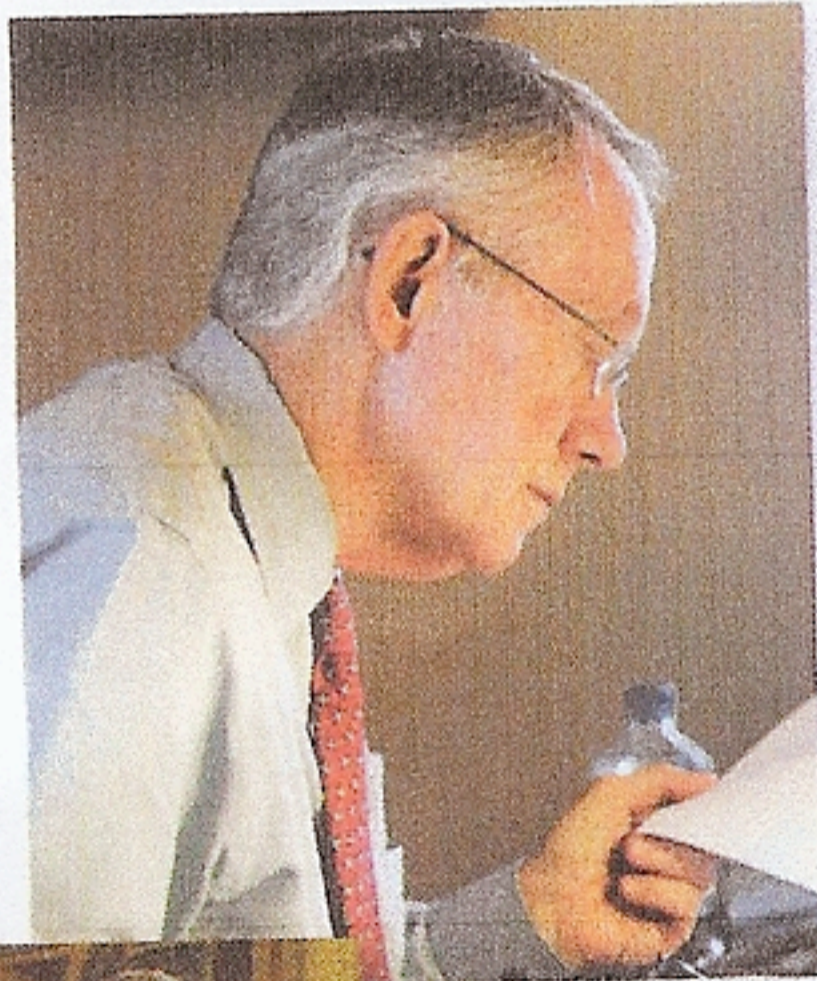

Harrah's Entertainment, one of the world's largest gaming employers that got its start in Reno more than 70 years ago and now employs more than 85,000 workers, needed help to protect thousands of jobs.

Nevada's Senator Harry Reid worked harder than ever to save jobs and get Nevada's economy back on track.

Reid "almost single-handedly" passed legislation earlier this year to allow businesses to restructure their financing, and thousands of gaming and hospitality jobs throughout Nevada were saved as a result.

According to Harrah's executive Jan Jones, Senator Reid's efforts "allowed Harrah's to work to restructure to make sure we kept our employees employed."

Harry Reid may be America's most powerful Senator. But he's Nevada's power in the Senate. And we can't afford to lose him.
